

Amy Abend

November 22, 1962 - February 16, 2018

Amy Abend, 55, of Syracuse, NY, went to be with Lord suddenly and unexpectedly on Friday, February 16, 2018. She will be greatly missed by all.

She was born in Poughkeepsie, NY, the daughter of the late Raymond and Teresa Schattle. She attended Holy Trinity School and graduated from Arlington High School. She then obtained a 4 year degree from Oswego State College majoring in Human Resources and Economics.

Amy's most cherished roles were as a loving wife, mother and teacher. The role she valued most of all was being a mother. She shined brightly for her children. They were the most important aspect of her life after her relationship with the Lord. Amy found much joy in creating a beautiful home along with many other creative endeavors. Amy attended Faith Chapel Church as a faithful founding member, and also attended bible studies along with other numerous roles in church life. She worked as a teacher's aide at Westhill High School where she cared very deeply for the students in her care and the faculty.

Amy is survived by Bruce, her husband of 32 years; their son, Zachary; their daughters, Faith and Grace; and her brother, Mark Schattle.

“ We connected, from the first time we met. We hit it off from the start. It was like I knew her all my life. She could surprise you with her sense of humor. She had the kind where she'd throw out that little Zinger. She liked going to the movies. And we could talk forever. She had good days and bad days because of her illness, but when she was herself, she was amazing. Even on her bad days, I never lost sight of who she was. We were like sisters together. I will miss her greatly. Love you Amy.
