“ *Dad,
It has been so long and i still think of you everyday. Jerome misses you so much and Luke is such a Walsh. He is everything that Mom wished on me but so adorable. He is everything that I was as a little one but so much more affectionate. Your best buddy Jerome is the math wiz at school. You would be so proud! He still talks of you often, as I think and miss you everyday. I love you Daddy!! Hugs and kisses always!*

“ I wish you were here, Jen moved out and you would have had the know how to help me. You would have had the words to say. You always did. Kids,,they seem to always test our strengths and make us wonder if we have it in us. I miss you so much my friend, so much. Your words and your laughter and your ability to help me see past the problem. I could use you on this one. A whole year has passed and then some and so many times I have come to the phone and realized you could not be called, and then had to know that I had to just think of you and there you were. It is of course, not the same. I miss you, grandma passed in November, she was my other rock, now, I am as you know, well, alone. There are just those that make things make sense, you were one of those for me, as was grandma. God has both of you, hope he knows how very special both of you are. I miss you,I will come back again to talk,,,,

“ It has been nearly three months since our world briefly stopped turning. The pain is still here, no question about it, but the memories somehow sooth us. Michelle & I miss you terribly, and we think of you daily, often hourly, and long for those Sunday night phone calls. Rest in peace - KJW.
